This diagram shows the front of the train being assembled. A long black 1x12 Technic beam is shown on the left, with two red arrows pointing towards a small black 1x2 Technic beam. This 1x2 beam is positioned to be attached to the front of the main train body, which consists of a black 1x12 Technic beam with various yellow and black components attached to it. Another red arrow points from the right towards the same 1x2 beam, indicating its connection to the rest of the train structure.
